

Hello,

Welcome to the Athens Linux Fest '99 version 1.0 sponsored the Classic Hackers UGA Linux User Group (CHUGALUG). Please cut out and wear the name tag below. It will help everybody get to know each other AND it serves as your registration for the door prizes!

We've got several things going on today. Everything centers around our wonderful volunteers who are helping people install Linux on their computers. The workbench area is the long line of tables down the center of the room.

Around the edge of the room you will find various computers setup where you can see veterans demoing various thing on their own Linux boxes. Everybody is here to have a good time and show off their favorite operating system. Don't be shy about asking questions.

There will be a Quiz show, of a sort, on Linux related knowledge. Think you know a thing or two about Linux? We'll see who knows the most! Prizes for the winners!

Door prizes will be given out throughout the day. You must be present to win! We would like to thank these companies who have graciously donated the prizes we will be giving away: Red Hat, SuSE, EST, Linux Mall, O'Reilly and Associates, Linux Central, and PowerQuest

We would also like to thank the Law School for allowing us the use of Dean Rusk Hall for our event, the ALF organizing committee, and all our volunteers.
